Mr. Bailey Gives Warning That Republicans Can Have No More Democratic Votes.

Washington, Dec. 16.—By the decisive vote of 57 to 18 the Senate today passed the bill carrying into effect the reciprocity treaty with Cuba. The vote came at the close of a day which was marked by an animated debate. The principal speeches were made by Mr. Spooner for the bill and by Mr. Bailey against it. Mr. Bailey referred to the recent agreement of the democratic caucus to stand solidly on party questions, and warned the republicans that in the future they could not depend on democratic votes. The bill carries into execution the treaty between the United States and Cuba ratified last March.

The Senate also agreed to the House resolution providing for a holiday recess from December 19 to January 4.

Thompson of Barre, Vt., charged with the larceny of $500 from Mrs. Matilda Howland of Montpelier, was brought into court yesterday afternoon and had his hearing before Judge Hardy. He was sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

SPAIN NOT IN IT.

Will Not Be Represented at St. Louis Exhibition.

Madrid, Dec. 17.—At a meeting of the cabinet today it was decided to send official notification to America that Spain would not participate in the St. Louis exposition. The reasons to be given are that there is not sufficient time to make a proper exhibit, also, that there is not enough money on hand to guarantee such an exhibit.

RANDOLPH.

Azro Boyce, a man about 65 years of age, died yesterday at his home on Central street. The immediate cause of his death was an attack of pneumonia, complicated with a heart trouble from which he has suffered a great deal for a number of years. Mr. Boyce was a kind-hearted man and was well known in this vicinity, having been engaged in the meat business for a number of years, when he lived in East Roxbury where he spent the greater part of his life. Mr. Boyce moved to this village about four years ago and since that time has made many friends, who tender their sympathies to the bereaved family. He is survived by three children by his first wife. They are Mrs. W. W. Rogers of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Agnes Ditty of Williamstown, and one son, John, whose whereabouts are unknown. Mr. Boyce married for his second wife Miss Olivia Woodward of Braintree, who with their daughter, Mary, survive him. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at his late home on Central street.

LEVI PERHAM SAYS
WOMAN ASKED HIM

Claims Mrs. Rogers Sought His Aid in a Plot—Were to Tire Out Husband.

Bennington, Dec. 17.—Morris Knapp, the man for love of whom it is alleged Mrs. Mary H. Rogers murdered her husband, and who Tuesday gave what appeared to be damaging testimony against the defendant, was given a pointed cross-examination when the trial was resumed yesterday. During more than an hour the witness was besieged with a rapid fire of questions from the defendant's counsel, without any material change in his story being made. The cross-examination was concluded with the question: "Did you not tell Stella Bates that you were going to the annual encampment of the Vermont national guard, and that it had been arranged to do away with Rogers during your absence?"

To this Knapp promptly responded: "No, sir; I never made such a statement to anybody."

The first real sensation of the trial came just after the forenoon recess, when Levi Perham, brother of Leon Perham, who was indicted as a participant in the crime, told of an alleged attempt made by Mrs. Rogers to secure his assistance in murdering her husband. The details of her plan at that time, as recounted by the witness, were substantially the same as finally carried out by Mrs. Rogers, according to the testimony of Leon Perham.

According to the story told by Levi today, Mrs. Rogers on one occasion sent for him and said she wanted a long, private talk with him. In the course of that conversation, witness said, Mrs. Rogers proposed that he assist her in doing away with her husband. They would go to Hoosick, where Rogers was employed, she said, on an apparently friendly visit, and by some means lead Rogers to make an exhibition of his strength and endurance.

For instance, they could use a skipping rope and get Rogers to skip until he was thoroughly exhausted. Then Perham was to spring upon him, and after he had been overpowered Mrs. Rogers would administer chloroform, and together they would throw the body into the river. For his part in the crime, Perham was to receive $500 of the insurance on Rogers' life. Witness said that he at first agreed to the plan, but after deliberation decided to have nothing to do with it.

The next witness for the state was Mrs. Perham, the mother of Leon and Levi Perham. She told how Mrs. Rogers came to her house to board and about two weeks later Morris Knapp came there also. An affection sprang up between the two and they were much in each other's company. Mrs. Rogers claimed that Mr. Rogers was her brother.

When the body of Rogers was found Mrs. Rogers asked that it be taken to the Perham house until burial, but the witness objected. Mrs. Rogers in reply to the objections said she could pay Mrs. Perham well for all the trouble as she was to have $500 insurance on her husband's life. She also said at that time that she proposed to marry Morris Knapp in September. When the inquest on the body of Rogers was held Mrs. Perham was asked by Mrs. Rogers to testify that it was her opinion that Rogers committed suicide. She told Mrs. Perham what questions were likely to be asked and told her what answers to make, insisting particularly on the suicide theory.

RIVER MAY FREEZE SOLIDLY.

This Would Seriously Injure Plants Along The Winooski.

Waterbury, Dec. 16.—The coldest snap of the season was experienced at Waterbury Monday night. The thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero Tuesday morning in several sections of the town.

The rain Sunday did not help the low water in the Winooski and it is feared that should the cold spell continue long the river would freeze solidly. The oldest inhabitants of the town say they have never known such a thing to happen. This would mean a large financial loss to the Consolidated Lighting Co., which owns and operates the Bolton Falls Electric plant. The J. S. Viles plant at Middlesex would be similarly affected. Both concerns have auxiliary steam plants and their patrons will not be deprived of electricity.

Bisco, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiated. There was singing by a mixed quartette.

TRAGEDY'S
PORTRAYALWitnesses Tell of Shooting of Eli Corti.

EYE-WITNESSES ON STAND

Emilio Vochini and William Corti Tell of Affray in Local Socialist Hall.

Montpelier, Dec. 17.—Watching keenly every act, noting every movement of attorney, witness and interpreter, and occasionally casting a quick glance towards the jury who are to decide his fate, Alexander Garrett, charged with the murder of Eli Corti in Barre on the night of Oct. 3, listened to the testimony of the eye-witnesses of the tragedy, in county court today. Emilio Vochini, who was slightly wounded in the affray, and William Corti, brother of the man who was shot, told their stories, and the incidents which they gave were most interesting as many of them were entirely new.

Progress in the case is made slow now as most of the witnesses require an interpreter, and oftentimes the two interpreters quibble over the translations. Mrs. Garrett, wife of the accused man, was an interested spectator today. During a fifteen minute recess she held an earnest conversation with her husband.

When Emilio Vochini took the stand this morning the first question asked him was, "Are you an anarchist?" "I am," replied the witness, and then he proceeded to tell what he saw at the Socialist hall on the evening when Corti was shot. He went to the hall some minutes before 7 o'clock, with Frank Beccoli, having heard that there was to be a lecture at about 6:30 or 6:40 o'clock. At the hall he saw a number of people, several of whom he named.

"Did you see Garrett?" The witness said that he did and that he also saw Eli Corti.

"Did you see or hear any shooting?" "Yes, about 7:20 o'clock. I was about eleven feet from Corti and Garrett. I saw Garrett advance toward Corti, and fired at him."

What did you do, was asked, and Vochini replied that he took a chair, and went over with the intention of disarming Garrett. After the latter had fired at Corti he aimed at witness and fired. "Did the bullet hit you?" "Under the left arm." The witness said he gave the bullet which went through his coat to a policeman. (Later Special Officer Donald McPhee was brought in, and Vochini recognized him as the policeman.)

The witness said that Garrett pointed his revolver at Vochini and Garrett was then tumbled down stairs. After being shot Corti put his hands to his stomach and cried "I am wounded, I am wounded, send for a doctor for me." He did not see anything in Corti's hands, and he did not see any fighting around Corti.

Cross-examined by F. L. Laird, the witness denied having any knowledge of a meeting of anarchists before the affray. A chart of the building was then produced and Vochini stated the position of the different rooms in the hall when he entered, the speaker's table being in the center of the hall. "About 30 people came in while I was there. At 7:20 the orator had not arrived, and Corti said in a voice to be heard, 'Where is the orator?' I went over to quiet him."

"Bernasconi and Rizzi then 'insulted' each other. The former 'insulted' the anarchist by word of mouth. Rizzi answered accordingly. Bernasconi started to go out, and I asked him to stay. He slapped me, I grasped him by the neck and pushed him. He responded with punches. Paul Mannini separated us. When I left he began to attack himself with others." The witness said he did not see Bernasconi's head smashed in. That affray, according to the witness, took place before the shooting. "Vochini had another scrap, this time with Bruzza. The latter had Martinez Rizzi, and I gave Bruzza the chair on the head. He went to the floor."

"Will another chair Vochini went for Garrett to disarm him. I did not say, 'Kill him, kill him.' After doing the shooting Garrett was kicked through the door, and as he went through he grasped the door casing. The cross-examining attorney then tried to find out why Garrett grasped the casing, and the witness, either becoming exasperated or confused, said, 'There he is down there now, you may ask him why,' pointing to the prisoner.

Garrett told the revolver in his right hand when he went through the door. The respondent's attorney then tried to get at the witness' previous record. Vochini said that he had been in this country six and a half years, and that during that time he had never been convicted of a crime. He went under the name of Vochini in Italy, and did not reside in France for some time. "Do you believe in a God?" was fired at him, but the state objected, and the question was withdrawn.

After a recess of fifteen minutes William Corti, brother of the man whom it is alleged Garrett shot, was put on the witness stand. At the same time three articles of wearing apparel were produced in court, and the witness identified them as belonging to his brother, Eli, and as having been worn by him the night of the shooting. The articles were two shirts and a vest, each with a bullet hole through it, and one having a blood stain on it.

At the hall the witness saw sparks, and then saw his brother grasp his abdomen. William left home late that afternoon for Paul Mannini's house where several

AT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR

Stock Company Formed Has Already Received Subscriptions to the Amount of $6,000.

Word was received by the Barre Granite Manufacturers' Association yesterday that they had been allotted 900 feet space for exhibition at the St. Louis world's fair to be held next year. This action of the exposition management ensures an exhibit of Barre granite at St. Louis.

For some weeks the granite men have been making preparations in doing toward an exhibit. A charter for a stock company with $15,000 capital has been secured for the purpose of financing the exhibit and a start has been made toward subscriptions to the stock. The manufacturers seen thus far have subscribed $5,000 and there are more yet to be seen. The merchants and professional men have not yet been approached, but will be in a day or two and it is hoped they will subscribe liberally to the enterprise.

Already designs for a suitable exhibit are being prepared and they will be submitted as soon as the company is organized, which it is hoped to do early next week.

This exhibit is something that virtually interests all who have money invested in Barre and it is hoped the enterprise will meet with no rebuff.

ONE YEAR IN BUSINESS.

J. W. Vaughan's First Anniversary Today.

One year ago today J. W. Vaughan opened his store in the building so long occupied by H. Z. Mills. The business started well and has steadily grown so that it became necessary to enlarge the store this fall, which enlargement has but recently been completed. The Vaughan store is well stocked for the holiday trade and it will keep all to make a visit to it.

In the year Mr. Vaughan has been in business his store has earned the reputation of being one of the busy stores of Barre.

Heading Sunday School Officers.

The annual meeting of the Sunday school board of the Methodist church was held last evening and elected the following officers: Superintendent, L. W. Hanning; assistant superintendent, L. D. Martin; secretary, Carl Demore; treasurer, E. A. Buzbee; librarian, Nat Keith; snt. of immediate department, Mrs. C. S. Andrews; snt. primary department, Mrs. C. W. Huntington, snt. of home department, Mrs. Joseph Hoyt.

friends were to be entertained at supper. This last was brought out on the cross examination, and the witness denied that someone had said at his home before he left. "You better not go there if there is going to be trouble," Corti said that he himself was an anarchist, but that his brother was not, although several years ago the latter had sympathized with that party.

The court room was well filled with spectators when convened after the recess yesterday afternoon. Frank A. Walker of Montpelier, was the first witness. He had drawn plans of the first and second floor of the socialist hall on Granite street at Barre. He explained the plans. Govai Corti, an Italian, of Barre, 21 years old, was called. He is a brother of Mrs. Eli Corti. He was in the socialist hall at the time Corti was shot and saw the shooting. Witness saw Garrett there. Garrett was standing to the right of the witness and had a revolver in his hand.

Q. "Did you hear Corti say anything to anyone just before the shooting?" A. "No."

He did not hear Garrett say anything. Witness demonstrated how Garrett held the revolver and the movements he made when he fired it. Witness testified that Corti said when he was shot, "It is right here," "It is right here" and Corti held his hands on his stomach. Two shots were fired. William Corti was present, but witness did not see him until after the shot was fired.

Witness testified that Eli Corti was doing nothing at the time of the shooting. He was walking towards the door. He did not see Eli Corti have anything in his hands at the time. After the shooting witness said that he went to Mr. Corti. He did not make an examination of Corti at the time. Witness was confused.

Witness went for a doctor. He next saw Corti at Paul Mannini's house which was near the hall on the opposite side of the street. Luigi Cassi, who was in the hall at the time of the trouble, described the shooting somewhat at length. Cassi said he was standing in the center of the hall when he saw Garrett move forward, revolver in hand, toward the corner where a fight was in progress. He then heard two shots and saw that Corti had been shot. There were about forty people in the hall at that time, and when the shooting occurred they all began to leave. Witness testified that he was an anarchist.

In yesterday's report of the court proceedings the Times stated Sam Novelli was a witness when the name should have read Joseph Novelli.

HON. J. A. DeBOER
NOT A CANDIDATE

Will Not Permit Use of His Name as a Candidate for the Republican Nomination.

Montpelier, Dec. 17.—In response to an inquiry from the Montpelier Journal, Hon. J. A. DeBoer writes that paper as follows in regard to his being a candidate for the Republican nomination next year: "Permit me to acknowledge your favor of the 5th inst., asking if I will permit the use of my name as a candidate for the Republican nomination to the governorship of this state."

"To this my answer is 'No.' The reason for this answer is briefly this: I depend for my income upon my work. If I do not do that work all of the time, it is my opinion that I should not draw the pay. I need this pay, however, to discharge the obligations which I have assumed and for which I am responsible. It seems to me, therefore, unwise and unnecessary to drop this work, which gives me pleasure, for the sake of seeking opportunity in politics."

"At the same time, I may say frankly that I should like to be Governor for the sake of the service and, if that service were before me in the form of an actual choice, I would gladly and proudly respond to the call. I regard myself barred, however, by circumstances, not meaning to suggest that men whose work does not involve the responsibilities of fixed trusteeship may not, with perfect honor and propriety, both seek and hold public office of any kind."

"Furthermore, I am wholly conscious that our Vermont woods, on both sides of the mountain, are full of better men and that neither the party nor the state can suffer the slightest harm from my fixed purpose to keep at work in my own shop. "Do me the favor, please, through your paper, of conveying my sincerest thanks to all those who have honored me with their kind opinions and accept for yourself assurances of my continued regard. "Yours very truly, "J. A. DeBoer."

PROMPT WORK
OF FIREMENSaves Considerable Fire Damage.

BLAZE IN MEAT MARKET

That Was Hard to Get at Damages
Durkee Block to Small Extent.

A fire in the Union Cash market in the Durkee block at 74 North Main street, last evening, did several hundred dollars damage and created for the time being quite a scare among the occupants of that and other wooden blocks near by.

But the prompt and effective work of the fire department soon had under control a blaze that threatened much damage. The fire started in the little office room located almost under the stairs that lead to the tenements above and had evidently been smoldering some little time before it was discovered from the smoke that found its way through the stairs to the hall above and into the street through the doorway. The smoke was seen from the street by Ed Cheever, who hastened to box 23 and rang in the alarm. The department made quick work in getting to the fire and in putting it out, although the location of it under the stairs made it very difficult to get at.

The origin of the fire is not known, but is supposed to have started from an oil stove in the office in the market.

The damage by fire was confined to the meat market and the stairway, and with the smoke and water its contents are nearly a total loss. The market carried an insurance of $1,200 in Ballard's agency.

G. L. Woodworth's barber shop, which is separated from the meat market by a partition only, was quite badly damaged by water, though Mr. Woodworth saved his mirrors and tools of trade only by removing them.

Under the market is Wing Hang's laundry which was damaged by water, as was also Huntington's City Fish Market, under Woodworth's barber shop. Mr. Huntington covered much of his stock with rubber blanket. His damage is about $100.

The tenement directly over the market was occupied by George Brothers, wife and two children, and the one above that by Frank Denis, wife and month old baby. Mr. Brothers had been out to order some wood and on his return found smoke in the hall. He hastened up and taking his two children, sent Mrs. Brothers up stairs to warn Mr. and Mrs. Denis. Mrs. Brothers was given the Denis baby to carry out, but Mrs. Denis was frightened and fainted once or twice before she was led from the building. The two families found temporary shelter in the Salvation Army rooms. Later the Denis family returned to their own tenement and the Brothers family stopped with friends on West street over night.

Notes of the Fire.

It was exactly three minutes from the time the alarm rang until the firemen had a stream on the fire.

It was a cold night for a fire and the hydrant at the junction of Washington and Main streets was frozen solid.

The new $550 horse and ladder truck reached the fire in good time, although it was driver William's night off and Joe Goodrich handled the reins. The horse reels with borrowed horses from the livery stables, beat the city horses on reaching the fire, however.

Chief Campbell received the full force of one stream in the face and he has one eye that looks bad today. W. F. Bradford, who was assisting in removing articles from Woodworth's barber shop, also received the full force of one stream as he was coming out of the door and he was knocked over and rolled down the stairs.

Thankful For Aid.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brothers wish to express their thanks through the Times to the Salvation Army for the use of their rooms so generously tendered when they and their children were driven from their own rooms by the fire, and also to the West street friends for lodging.

CLERKS WIN ANOTHER.

Defeated Montpelier Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball Team 14 to 10.

The clerks added another victory to their unbroken flat last night when they defeated the Y. M. C. A. team from Montpelier by a score of 14 to 10 in the best game that has been played here thus far this winter. The game was played at the Goddard gymnasium and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd.

Both teams played a very fast game that was almost free from fouls and roughness. Smith of the clerks was the star man of the game making six baskets from the floor and nearly all made with one hand throws. Houghton made the remaining basket for the clerks. The score at the end of the first half stood 4 to 4 but in the last half the clerks played strong and did phenomenal work at throwing baskets. Huntington and Hooper played the best game for the Y. M. C. A.

Two 20 minute halves were played. Tom Carswell was referee and Harry Boiles umpire.

The line up was as follows, Clerks, Houghton and Wheeler, forwards; Smith, center; Grindell and Connor, guards. Y. M. C. A., Hooper and Huntington, guards; Cass, center; McDonald and Buswell, forwards.
